

Website Accessibility Statement

Accessibility Statement:

AEG Foundation is committed to providing access to our website to as many users as possible. With respect to this ongoing goal, we understand that many of our users are currently living with one or more forms of disability (including auditory, physical, neurological, visual, and cognitive disabilities), many of which can greatly inhibit access to information technologies, including the internet.

AEG Foundation is committed to ensuring equal access to our users with disabilities, as we recognize how critical such access is. We are also committed to providing maximum access to our website to those users who, while not suffering from a current disability, are nevertheless subject to access barriers including low bandwidth and language issues. We encourage and welcome all users and strive to help them to achieve maximum access so that everyone can enjoy and benefit from our offerings equally.

In furtherance of this goal, AEG Foundation's website content has been designed in compliance with the American with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), 42 U.S.C. § 12101, the World Wide Web Consortium's (W3C) Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0, Level AA (WCAG 2.0 AA), and the Authoring Tool Accessibility Guidelines 2.0 (ATAG). We strive to ensure ongoing compliance with these and other applicable regulations and policies related to website accessibility.
